Field of Study (Major): Psychology, minoring in counseling of psychology family engagement & sociology

Why did you choose this field of study? In high school, I knew I wanted to make a difference in someone life so when I found out that my high school had psychology class I grew to love the class. understanding how the brain is develop & that there's a reason behind why someone feel or act the way they do. i want to be a therapist for the ones who needs someone who looks like them & being able to relate on a different aspect. There's not many Black therapists in this field so I think it's important. I need to do this for myself & future generations

The most meaningful achievement I experienced this year was getting a job that's within my major. Last semester, I struggled with finding experience within my major and trying to find something that would give me the experience I needed. I secured a job at the Youth Opportunity Center (YOC) where I work with juvenile delinquent youth. My job helps these kids (residents) get the help they need by working the program and encouraging them to improve themselves. I work in the Promise/ TASC program where I work with high-risk residents who struggle with their mental health. My job is to make sure they are safe and guiding them. By helping them work on their emotions and teaching them things they never learned in their household helps improve on themselves. For example, some residents didn't know what boundaries were. As Staff, we did a skit/discussion with the residents what are their boundaries and told everyone what you are not comfortable with so we could learn from that. Before we started discussing our boundaries, I had all the residents be respectful of everyone's boundaries and give them the space to speak about their boundaries. After completing the activity for that day, it made me feel good about myself because it showed that I can guide these residents and prepare them for things they can work on in the future.

This job relates to my field of study because it will help me understand what residents went through. Although these residents have a criminal history it doesn't define them. These residents are still kids and need someone to guide them. Some residents never had someone to give them the structure or support they needed as to why they must be placed in the YOC program. Having the support of all the staff helps me because it helps me learn from them. The criticism the staff gave me helped me learn from the situation. I want to be of guidance to the residents and make sure they work the program. In the end, I hope I shaped these kids' lives and that I was a part of making their lives turn out well.
